A Powerful Start to the Cybersecurity Youth Camp: A Week of Learning and Digital Safety

We're excited to share the highlights from the first week of the Second edition of the Cyber Security Youth Summer Camp 2025, a flagship initiative of the National Cyber Security Academy. The camp is held in collaboration with the Ministry of Education and Higher Education and the Ministry of Sports and Youth.

Laying the Groundwork

The camp kicked off with great energy and purpose, starting with an essential orientation session led by the organizers. The session focused on safety protocols, underscoring the importance of being aware of the risks that come with navigating the digital world.

A Deep Dive into Cyber Knowledge

Throughout the first week, students explored a wide range of foundational and advanced topics in cybersecurity. The curriculum covered key areas such as cybersecurity fundamentals, the structure of the internet and websites, web-based attacks, as well as networks and systems.

Learning From Experts

One of the standout features of the camp is the "Expert Sessions," which offer students a rare opportunity to engage directly with leading figures in the cybersecurity field. This week, the camp hosted Ali Al-Kaabi from the Data Privacy Department at the National Cyber Security Agency, and Sheikh Khalifa bin Ali Al-Thani, a renowned cybersecurity expert. Both speakers shared practical advice on protecting personal data and outlined actionable steps for building a successful career in this vital sector.

Learning Made Fun

Beyond its technical and educational rigor, the camp was designed to be dynamic, engaging, and fun. Alongside lectures, hands-on exercises, interactive workshops, and educational field visits, students also participated in recreational activities that helped recharge their energy and foster teamwork among peers.

"I feel incredibly excited to learn and apply cybersecurity skills in real-world scenarios. I gained much more than I expected and am truly grateful to the National Cyber Security Agency for making this camp such a rewarding experience!"

Mohammed Al-Hail, Participant

We're proud of the students' growth during this first week and look forward to even greater milestones in the weeks ahead. Stay tuned for more updates from the Cyber Security Youth Summer Camp 2025.
